

Results of employers satisfaction survey with students internship
Master in Translational Biomedical Research
Course 2016-2017

29% participation answer

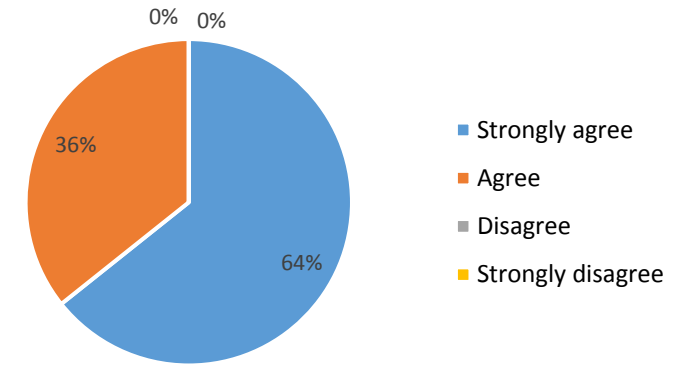

The student has been successfully integrated into the work group

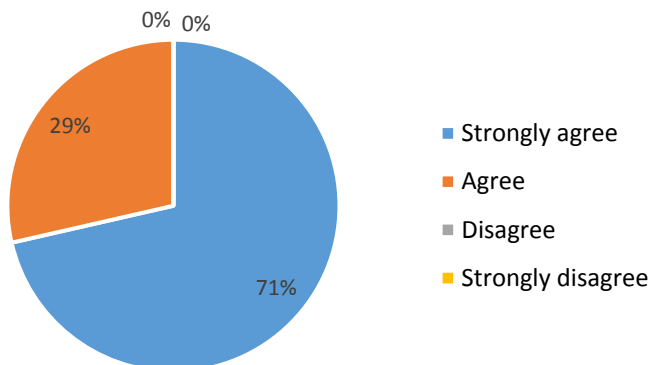

The knowledge and training of the student were adequate for the project to be developed in the research group/company.

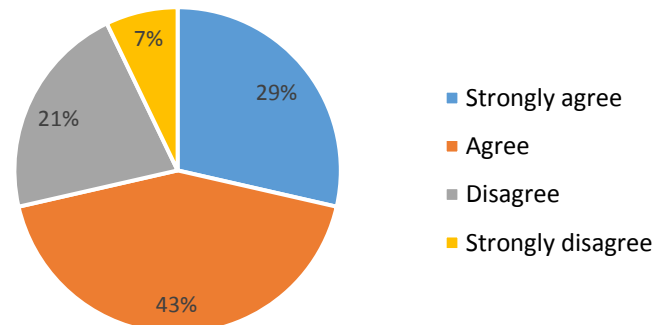

The student has shown interest and motivation during the practicum.

In general, hosting a student of this master's degree has been a satisfactory experience for the work group.

The information received by the coordination of the master's degree has been satisfactory.

Would you host a student of this master's degree again?

